

Method of Disclosure

Southern Careers Institute provides information and notify students of any targeted or general announcements through various channels, including publications such as brochure, web sites , messages, e-mails and catalogs (electronic and print). Students may find other consumer information topics throughout the institution website too at www.scitexas.edu